UP TO DATE: E.G. ON 15 JUN, JOB
POSTINGS TO 14 JUN AVAILABLE

Analysis based on online job postings data should be treated with care

Key characteristics of the job postings data:

- Real-time data, e.g. on 1 June, showing data up to 31 May
- Indicative, providing a sample of jobs
- More qualitative, providing 'colour and context'
- Rich detail, incl. job titles, locations, employers, skills – anything that's available in a job advert

Therefore:

- Treat with extreme caution
- Use as a starting point to identify potential trends
- Find other data sources to corroborate

The slight May increase in job postings continued into June

UK vs. SWLEP Job Postings, Jan 2012 - Jun 2020

However, the recovery has been very slow for job postings...

So what?

What actions should we be focussing on?

Unemployment

- How to support unemployed back to work

Sectors

- Not all able to get back up and running

Geography

- Travel limiting factor to employment

Therefore:

There is no one size fit all approach

Need targeted interventions by location and sector

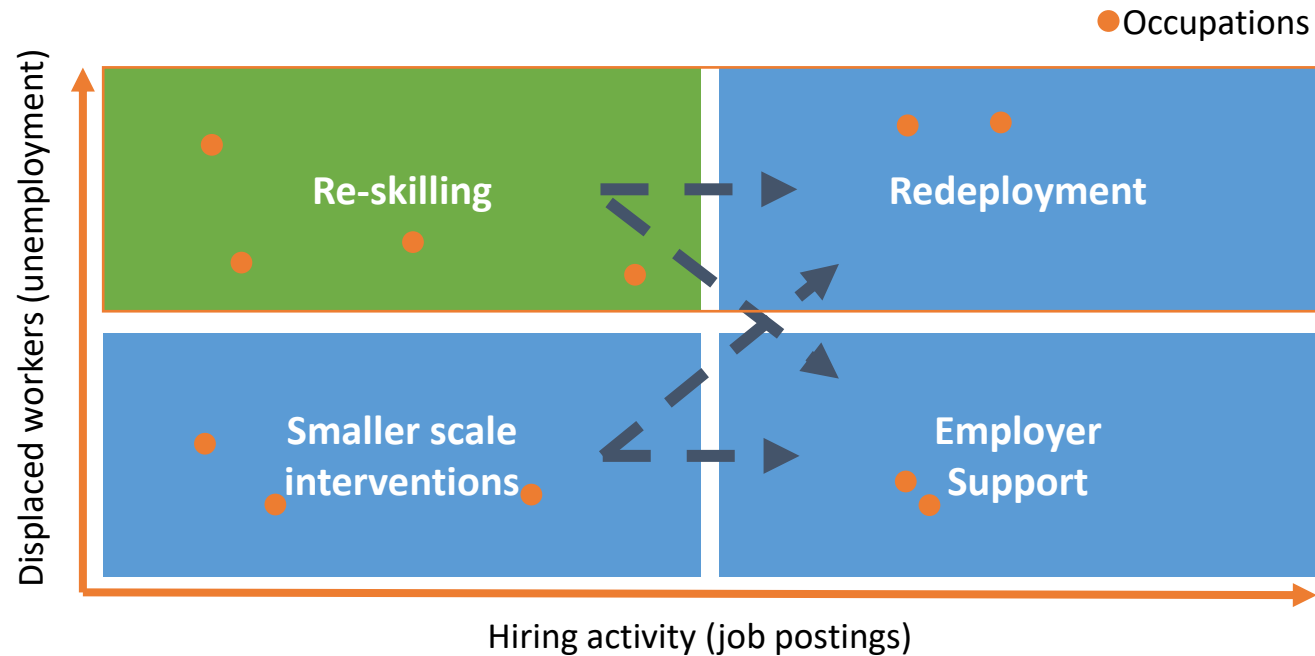

Matching labour supply (those becoming unemployed) and labour demand (job postings)

How can data guide our actions in re-emerging sectors?

Mapping unemployment to job postings, by location

For occupations that require re-skilling...

Step 1 Match occupations that are claiming Job Seeker Allowance with most compatible occupations with high job postings using EMSI Compatibility Index

Step 2 Focus on developing the missing skills

Thank you for your time
